

Raymond Bunsick

*Teaches 10th-12th grade
Auto Body, Collision and
Drivers Ed, Swenson Arts
and Technology High School
Philadelphia, PA*

Mr. Bunsick encourages his students to pursue vocational education after high school. He helps them achieve this goal by having them participate in driving competitions which provide scholarship awards. Mr. Bunsick's efforts lead to successful auto industry careers for many of his students.

How do you teach your students to balance their rights with their responsibilities?

“The students have to realize that it is not just their responsibility to be aware of their own rights, but also to be aware of the rights of others.”