NIKOLAS TOOCHECK

Nikolas received this award after completing the 6th grade in the Unionville-Chadds Ford School District in Kennett Square, PA. Like his father, Nik developed a love for running. At age nine, he created a philanthropic campaign called “Running the World for Children” to raise money for the non-profit organization Operation Warm, which provides new winter coats to children in need. After becoming the youngest person to ever run a marathon on all seven continents, Nik’s new goal is to run a marathon in all 50 states. This campaign is called “Running the World for Children: Stateside,” and is raising money for the non-profit organization Seva Foundation to help children in need receive critical eye-care. To date, Nikolas has raised more than $45,000.
