Cailey has been giving back to her community from a very young age. She began donating all of her birthday presents when she was just 6 years old! As she got older, she wanted to do more, so she used her savings to create a non-profit called Colorado Kids for Kids (CK4K). This organization is run entirely by kids to help sick, disabled, homeless, and underprivileged kids in the Denver area. CK4K plans activities and holiday parties at homeless shelters; visits sick patients at children’s hospitals; and provides school supplies to disadvantaged children. Cailey even made it a point to learn Spanish, so she could better serve the non-English speaking residents of her community.