These 3rd graders heard through the news and at school about the devastating late-2016 hurricane that left many citizens on the island nation of Haiti dead or homeless. They visited the school library to learn more and came up with a plan to help the Haitian People. They designated a special day to serve as a fundraiser, asking each of the 750 students in their school to wear a hat on that day and bring at least a $1 donation. Everyone was so enthusiastic about their efforts, the final result blew the top off their expectations. The Group collected a grand total of $3,500, all of which they donated to UNICEF, the world-recognized relief organization.
