In November of 2016, a young girl named Jayanna Powell was the victim of a fatal automobile accident. Officer Johnson is a friend of the family and, as Christmas approached, she wanted to ensure that they would have a happy holiday, especially Jayanna’s three siblings. She organized an event called “A Christmas Community Celebration in Memory of Jayanna Powell,” and invited the entire community to participate. They decorated the place from top to bottom; provided food and refreshments for everyone; and even arranged for Santa himself to make an appearance. More than 200 children attended the event, and everyone left with a Christmas gift. The family was shocked and surprised at the outpouring of support and expressed their gratitude to all.
