Dennis and Mac are friends and are working at their first job together. Mac is so excited but on their lunch break trips Dennis as a joke. Mac thought it would be funny but his new boss see’s and is upset. Dennis wants to defend Mac but also doesn’t want to get in trouble himself.

Kal has a hard time hearing in class, and keeps asking students to repeat themselves. One student in Kal’s class thinks that Kal is making fun of him because of this. He is called to meet with his teacher. Kal doesn’t want to talk about his hearing problem but also doesn’t want to get in trouble.

Valerie cannot see the board in school after breaking her glasses. She likes sitting with her friends in the back and does not want to move up. She also doesn’t want to tell her parents she broke her glasses.

Ross just asked Rachel to go to prom and she said yes! He is so excited but the next day he sees her making fun of other girls in school who don’t have dates yet. He thinks this is really mean and is disappointed in the way she’s acting.

Elijah loves baseball but he found out he didn’t make the team. He decides to form his own team with other players who didn’t make the team but who he enjoys playing with. His school tells him there is only one baseball team and that Elijah’s new team can’t practice on the field.

Harriet is responsible for taking care of her little brother after school every day. She wants to be able to join a club that meets once a week after school and wants to hire a babysitter on that day for her brother. She doesn’t know if her parents can afford that and doesn’t want to make them feel guilty.
Sara and Ella are close friends but when Ella starts spending more time with her new friends than with Sara, Sara stops speaking with her.

David and Alex are friends, and both like the same person. When David asks this person to hang out with him, Alex is hurt.

Jared’s dad loves football, and he has always pressured Jared to play. Jared would much rather play soccer, but he’s afraid to bring it up.

Rachel wants to be a vegetarian, but her mom won’t take her seriously. When her mom serves her chicken again, she feels like screaming at her.

Will and Gabriella are best friends but sometimes Gabriella makes snide comments about Will’s height. Will decides he is sick of hearing it.

Ali got a C on his final report and genuinely felt like he deserved a higher grade- but he’s not sure there is anything he can do about it.
Chris, Mary and Tessa are all really close. Recently though, Mary and Tessa got in a huge fight. They have both asked Chris to pick a side, but she just wants everything to go back to how it was.

Eden’s town announced that due to budget, they will be closing down the local playground. Eden loves the park and goes to her town hall meeting to make a stand; she is told there is nothing a child can do to change what’s happening.

Ian and Kate are in an after school program. They both want to join the dance class that the program offers. However, when Kate signs them up on the roster, she is told the class is just for girls and to tell Ian to join the “boy programs”.

Rosie is in her English class during the last week of school. One of her classmates asks the teacher a question on something they just went over. Rosie is frustrated but knows this student often struggles with understanding. Her teacher responds “I’m tired of you acting stupid!”

A school walk out is being conducted at Max’s school over an issue that he believes is right. Max’s teachers say that all participants will get in trouble. He wants them to know why this cause is so important but doesn’t want to make things worse.